

RESEARCH FUNDING - EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES?

Seminar 27 November 2019 at 13-15.30

AIAS, Aarhus Institute of Advanced Studies, Aarhus University, Høegh-Guldbergs Gade 6B, building 1632, Auditorium 1st. floor

Female researchers receive only a smaller part of the funding from Danish research funds. In addition, the success rate for females is lower than the success rate for males in grant applications. Furthermore, the Danish research environment lags behind when it comes to the share of female applicants to European research grants. How do we explain these differences, and what can we do to change the situation?

Programme

13.00-13.10	Welcome. Lars Bo Nielsen, Dean Health
13.10-13.30	Key note. In Denmark the percentage of female professors is low. Is gender bias in research funding a contributory factor? Liselotte Højgaard. Clinical professor, Department of Clinical Medicine, Copenhagen University
13.30-13.45	Presentation by director of research 1. Professor Poul Nissen, Dandrite
13.45-14.00	Presentation by director of research 2. Professor Cecilia Ramlau-Hansen, Department of Public Health, Epidemiology
14.00-14.15	Presentation by director of research 3. Professor Leif Østergaard, Department of Clinical Medicine, CFIN
14.15-14.30	Break, coffee and cake
14.30-15.15	Panel debate. Questions and discussions with panel participants, speakers and audience. Panel participants: Clinical professor Signe Borgquist, professor Ebbe Bødtkjær, associate professor Marina Romero-Ramos, clinical professor Tine Brink Henriksen.
15.15-15.30	Rounding off. Reflections on input to today's topic and next steps. Lars Bo Nielsen, Dean

Tilmeld dig seminaret på <https://events.au.dk/SeminarResearchFunding>